A brief summary of the applicant's studies and professional career so far. (ii) The applicant will answer briefly one or two questions asked by the committee that are closely related to the recommended reading material. (iii) This is followed by informal questions to assess applicants' basic command of base subjects and disciplines of the programme (such as economic and statistical foundations of health policy) and their verbal competences, as well as to learn about their motivation for joining a program.
