

Program of International Graduate Conference of Political Science and International Relations

The Doctoral School of International Relations and Political Science of the Corvinus University Budapest, in cooperation with the Institute of Political Science of the Eötvös Lóránd Research Network is organising International Conference on “Leadership”

3 December, 2021

In accordance with government regulations, we kindly ask each participant to bring a certificate of his/her immunity to Covid-19, thank you!

8:30-9:00 Registration (Room C510)

I. South-East Asia

9:00-10:15 (room C510)

Discussant: TBD

- David Morris: Leadership and interdependence
- Iván Tamayo: The North Korean leaders' Survival Strategies
- Agung Wicaksono: Indonesia Under Jokowi: Is the organizational structure established by the Government effective for controlling COVID-19 in Indonesia?

II. Quantitative strategies for understanding politics

9:00-10:15 (room C418)

Discussant: Csaba Molnár (BCE/ELKH PTI)

- Daniel Kovarek: Distributive Politics as Behavioral Localism: Evidence from a Vignette Experiment in Hungary
- Denis Ivanov: Adapting, Zigzagging or Staying Put? Positional Shifts of Mainstream Populist Parties in Lithuania and Hungary

III. Political communication

10:30-12:30 (room C510)

Discussant: Gabriella Szabó (ELKH PTI)

- Petra Pintér: Two-way Communication on Social Media Platforms - Case Study of the Mayor of Szekesfehervar, Hungary
- Mgr. Miroslav Pažma: Measuring populist discourse of Slovak party leaders: The 2020 general elections
- Lilla P. Szabó, Alexandra Béni and Judit Sebestény: The discursive construction of a leader: A corpus-based study of the 2021 Hungarian opposition primary
- Paul Mugambi Makunyi: Censoring the public sphere; Elections and Internet shutdown in Africa

IV. Capturing leadership premium in the EU

10:30-12:30 (room C418)

Discussant: Zoltán Kelemen (BCE)

- Dóra Bókay: Collective leadership in the European Union: a case study of the selection of the leaders of the European institutions in 2019
- András Bánki: European Parliament 2009-2021
- Szabolcs Janik: V4 and the EU – Who led whom: analysing the impacts of the V4 on EU policies

12:30-14:00 Lunch (In front of C305)

V. Theoretical approaches to leadership

14:00-16:00 (room C510)

Discussants: Szilárd Tóth (BCE) and Attila Gyulai (BCE, ELKH PTI)

- Tokat Yasin: Ethical Leadership Model to Increase International Cooperation in Cyber Security Issues
- Ádám Darabos: Following the legacy of the “first great realist”: Augustine’s relevance in Reinhold Niebuhr’s thought
- Leonardo Zanatta: Aleksander Dugin and the Eurasian Economic Union: laying the foundations of authoritarian economic leadership
- István Benedek: Similis simili gaudet: a mutually beneficial marriage between populism and autocracies.

VI. Eurasian tapestry

14:00-16:00 (room C418)

Discussant: TBD

- Otar Pareishvili: Russian sharp power: how the Kremlin uses the Orthodox Church for its geopolitical objectives
- Amina Urpekova: Diaspora contribution to homeland’s COVID-19 response. Kazakhstan and Uzbekistan cases
- Neli Kirilova: Perception of Balance of Power Elements and Power Limit in the Black Sea Region