

The foundation of “Best Thesis Award”

We are pleased to inform you that the undersigned, by their own decision, have established the “Best Thesis Award of Industrial organization specialization of Economic Analysis master program of CUB”

student award for a period of 10, i.e. ten years, as explained below and under the conditions detailed also below!

The primary purpose of the award is to recognize the performance and interest of our students showing excellent professional achievement. In our opinion, the award will also be able to strengthen students' affiliation and relation to our program, to the University, as well as to serve as an element of our brand, as a piece of signal of quality, and it may give an example for others.

The prize may be awarded to a student of the Industrial organization specialization (or of the "successor" major/specialization recognized by the founders of the award).

The main criterion for awarding the prize is the existence and full-fledged functioning of this degree program and the specialization which is also recognized by the founders, as well as the quality, content and formal appearance of the thesis submitted in the given academic year. Another aspect is the professional and academic performance of the students nominated.

Some additional information about the award is as follows:

- The award is a piece of the Friedman or Harsányi silver commemorative medals issued by the National Bank of Hungary shown below.

- One piece of the prize (silver medal) will be awarded at the end of the academic year, in connection with the defense, or at the graduation ceremony.
- The award would be presented for the first time this year:
  - The award ceremony in summer 2023 will also feature the award for 2022 and 2023 graduates. (In 2022, we had the first graduates who studied according to the revamped, renewed program.)
  - The award is decided by László Szakadát, who is currently responsible for this master program and specialization in question, Barna Bakó and Helga Habis based on the proposals of the teachers of the specialization and the teachers supervising the theses.
  - 5-5 units of the prizes are in the possession of László Szakadát, they can be deposited if necessary.
  - The prizes were purchased by László Szakadát from his after-tax income.
  - The award does not constitute any obligation for anyone under any condition.
  - The award can be refused.
  - If no thesis suitable for the award is submitted, or if the professional work of the students concerned or any other aspect may damage the prestige of the award, the award will not be awarded in the given year.
  - A decision has already been made regarding those who graduated in 2022.

More information about the award ceremony and the winner(s) is announced every year according to the academic schedule. We hereby invite students, teachers and all interested parties of the specialization to the award ceremony!
